Regular 18K white gold (75% gold)

Standard white gold alloy with a low nickel content.
This is a sturdy alloy and it is slightly yellowish in color.
(White gold jewelry sold in the US is mostly rhodium plated to make it white.)

Regular 14K white gold (58.5% gold)

It is grayish-white and white in color and contains nickel.

18K palladium white gold

The brilliant white gold metal. It is softer than Regular 18k white and also nickel-free.

Platinum 950 (95% platinum)

Platinum is denser and heavier than gold. It is also hypoallergenic and naturally more white in color than white gold. I use a harder platinum alloy for durability.

Pink (Rose) gold

It has an attractive warm color and decent hardness.

Yellow gold

Timeless gold color. 14K yellow is softer than other colors
